LOST IN MOUNTAINS.

Idaho Youth Supposed to Have Perished During Recent Storm.

(Special to The Herald.) Idaho Falls, Ida., Dec. 2.—A rescue party of eight left Leon, a village located north of here some ten miles, in search of a young man by the name of Frank Lee, evidently lost in the mountains on Bear creek. It appears that Lee and another hunter, Frank Rose, were in that region on a game hunt and having killed a deer, Rose suggested they return home, but Lee was intent on going farther in search of more game and specified a place on the mountain where they should meet near dusk. Rose accordingly at the specified time was at the place, but Lee had not put in an appearance. A blinding snowstorm in the meantime had set in and the supposition is that the young man became bewildered and could not find his way. Rose built fires and did all within his power to locate Lee, but to no effect. He then hastened to Leon and gave the alarm. The mother of Frank Lee has recently suffered a stroke of paralysis and so does not know her son's possible awful death.
